

NCN Student Research Symposium (NSRS)

Tuesday, June 16, 2009

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

nanoHUB : online simulation
and more

Electronic Abstract Submission

Deadline for submission: June 10, 2009

Format: Word doc/ pdf (150 words)

Email to: ncn.slc.amrit@gmail.com
aeislam@purdue.edu

Topics: Nano-science/ technology, computational science

Presentation format:

11 min presentation + 4 min Q/A

WHEN

9:30am-4:00pm

Tuesday, June 16, 2009

WHERE

Room 129

Burton D. Morgan Center for Entrepreneurship
Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN, U.S.A.

Organized By:

NCN Student Leadership Council

The Network for Computational Nanotechnology is supported by the National Science Foundation and Purdue University. It has a vision to pioneer the development of nanotechnology from science to manufacturing through innovative theory, exploratory simulation, and novel cyberinfrastructure.